DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 12, 13, 17, and 18 recite the limitation "acceptor-doped material" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 11 thru 13, and 16 thru 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sano et al. 6,664,565 B1. Sano discloses (see, for example, FIG. 6) an LED (wide band gap semiconductor device) comprising a buffer layer (substrate) 305, n-type high temperature growth ZnO single crystal layer 311, and N-doped p-type high temperature growth ZnO single crystal layer (p-type ZnO layer) 315. In column 7, line 3, Sano discloses the n-type ZnO layer is doped with Ga. In column 6, line 65, Sano discloses the p-type ZnO layer is doped with N or nitrogen.

Art Unit: 2815

The limitations “annealed” and “deposited under hydrogen reducing conditions” are product-by-process limitations that do not structurally distinguish the claimed invention (i.e. a final structure of an n-type ZnO layer and a p-type ZnO layer) over the prior art.

Product-by-Process Limitations

5. While not objectionable, the Office reminds Applicant that “product by process” limitations in claims drawn to structure are directed to the product, per se, no matter how actually made. In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3). See also, In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery, 186 USPQ 161; In re Wethheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 554 does not deal with this issue); In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289; and particularly In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964, all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final product per se which must be determined in a “product by process” claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in “product by process” claims or otherwise. Note that applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above case law makes clear. Thus, no patentable weight will be given to those process steps which do not add structural limitations to the final product.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-13, and 16-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
